

SENATORS RELEASE FLOOD OF SPEECHES ON 4-POWER TREATY

"Canned Oratory" Deluges Chamber as Period of Unlimited Debate Comes to An End; La Follette Bitterly Assails Pact

WASHINGTON, March 22.—A flood of prepared speeches for and against the four-power Pacific treaty was loosed in the senate today as the period of unlimited debate came to an end under the unanimous consent agreement which will bring a final ratification vote Friday.

The one hour limit on individual speeches was effective at 2 p. m. today and several senators who had prepared long addresses jostled one another in bidding for recognition in the eleventh hour rush of "canned oratory."

FIARS ENTANGLEMENT.

The four-power treaty arrangements were assailed by Senator La Follette as a scheme of Great Britain and Japan to secure cooperation and protection of the United States in their further scheme of exploitation and imperialism.

He declared it was viewed by both British and Japanese statesmen as merely an extension of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, which it abrogates, and that in actual practice it would result in binding the United States to support the policies of London and Tokyo against such outside powers as China, Russia and Germany.

QUESTION OF VOTES.

"I do not know," said Senator La Follette, "whether the British government would consent if this proposed treaty went into effect, that its dominions should each have a separate vote under the treaty as they have under the league of nations."

"At all events we do know that the Anglo-Japanese policy of aggression and imperialism which made the British empire and Japanese empire close allies in the past will cause them to stand as a unit on policy and against any power on the ocean which desires to resist that the rights of weaker power shall be recognized. Whether they outvote us six to one or two to one is not material."

During Senator La Follette's definition of American rights and duties under the four-power Pacific treaty, Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, Nebraska, inquired who was to determine whether a question or controversy should come within jurisdiction of the conference of the four nations.

LEAGUE PRECEDENT.

"That whole subject is left open," replied Senator La Follette. "I assume the framers of this treaty sought to make it as brief as they could, to avoid having any involving document which might never get through this body at all."

The Wisconsin senator added that there was nothing anywhere in the treaty's provision which reserved to the United States the right to determine whether immigration, for example, should be a subject with which the conference of the powers may deal. This brought from Senator Simmons, Democrat, North Carolina, the statement that one of the reservations to the treaty of Versailles most strongly insisted on was that which withheld to the United States the privilege of determining what questions should be within the jurisdiction of the league.

TELEGRAM QUOTED.

Senator Johnson, Republican, Cal., contributed to the exchange a telegram he said had been sent to President Harding by Senator Nicholas, the Japanese opposition leader, on the latter's departure from the Washington conference, which he attended as an observer. The message was quoted as saying that although the Japanese leader left the United States "full of joy" he enjoyed Mr. Harding to remember "that there are many things still to be adjusted under your leadership including the fortification of Hawaii and the immigration question in California."

When Senator La Follette was reciting the consequences of Japan's policy in Korea and the Far East, Senator Watson, Democrat, Georgia, interrupted to say:

PRAYER OF PASTOR.

"It has come to me, from a source which I cannot reveal but upon which I rely, that the pastor who opened the conference with prayer had in his prayer an allusion to the merits of the blood of our Savior, Jesus Christ."

HIGH STUDENT IS GIVEN PRIZE

Beryl Beringer Awarded First Place in Kiwanis Club Contest

Beryl Beringer, a student in the Ogdenville high school, was today awarded the first prize given by the Kiwanis club for the best essay on the subject of "Our Constitution and Fundamental Documents." Evelyn Edling, was awarded second prize. Those that received honorable mention were Alfred Funk, William L. Hutchings and Dorothy Scott.

The judge was Darrell J. Green, managing editor of The Standard-Examiner. Rev. L. A. Garrison and County Attorney David J. Wilson. The essay for the first prize of $10 and the second prize of $5 were drawn today by Sumner Nelson, treasurer of the Kiwanis club, and mailed by Secretary David J. Wilson.

This is the last of the contests held among the schools of the county and city. The Ogdenville high school was the only senior high school that entered the competition.

DOCTOR TAKES WITNESS STAND

Miss Rappe's Death, He Says, May Have Been Due to Force

Dr. Ophuls testified that a rupture of the bladder which caused the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, film actress, four days after a party in Arbuckle's suite in the Hotel St. Francis, Labor day, might have been caused by the application of external force. As in both previous trials, his testimony was largely technical.

The witness testified also as a member of the commission appointed in the first trial and composed of three physicians, selected by the court, the prosecution and defense attorneys, to determine whether there were any predisposing or contributory causes to the rupture. He reported of the commission, which said microscopic examination showed a chronic inflammation existed, but very slight in extent, and not necessarily of a nature to predispose the bladder to rupture.

PROCEDURE CHANGED.

The testimony of Dr. Ophuls, followed opening statements by Assistant District Attorney Lee Friedman and by Gavin McNab, chief defense counsel. McNab departed from his course at the first trial when he reserved his opening statement until the prosecution had concluded its initial presentation of testimony.

The morning session opened with the selection of the fourth and second alternate jurors, a woman, after Judge Harold Louderback denied a motion of the prosecution for the right to examine a preliminary challenge against Juror Edward W. Brown, a grocer. Brown was accused by the prosecution of prejudice and bias as a result of his being twice prosecuted for alleged violation of the state pure food laws.

TO REPEAT TESTIMONY.

The prosecution indicated in its opening statement that the testimony of Arbuckle in the first trial would be read into the present record in an effort to show Arbuckle made three explanations of the occurrence in his hotel suite Labor day.

The defense gave notice that Arbuckle would again take the stand in his own defense, as in the first trial and two preliminary witnesses considered an important one—a Mrs. Emma Delean of San Francisco, who would testify that she had a room adjoining Arbuckle's at the hotel and overheard part of what happened at the film comedian's party.

Greater interest than has been shown in the third trial heretofore was manifested and the police guard was kept busy with the crowd.

MISS PREVOST RETURNS.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 22.—Zeh Prevost, missing prosecution witness in the trial of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle, charged with manslaughter, is in New Orleans, it became known when Robert H. Marr, district attorney, announced his transportation to San Francisco at the request of the California authorities.

Although recent dispatches from San Francisco said that Miss Prevost was in this city, it did not become known generally until it was announced that she would leave for the Pacific coast aboard a night train. Her departure was delayed, however, and it was not learned when she would go.

At the hotel where she is stopping, all information regarding her movements was refused. She declined to see newspaper reporters.

After the second trial of Arbuckle, Miss Prevost disappeared from California and a nationwide search for her was instituted.

TALKS AT MISSION OF UNEMPLOYMENT.

Social and economic conditions were discussed last night by D. S. Rishon at the Ensign mission. He stated that to his belief men should, more than at any time in the past, learn to think for themselves. The conference was held in the Ensign mission.

While no bid has yet been accepted it was announced that the Houser-Pack and bid was the lowest, although no figure was mentioned. The contractor will probably be let within the next few days.

COMMISSION LOOKS OVER CURB BIDS.

The board of city commissioners this morning went over several bids submitted by contractors for the installation of curb and gutters in district No. 12 and then referred the bids to the city engineer for comparison.

SPRAYING OF TREES URGED

County Inspector Hammon Suggestions Early Fight Against Pests

Instructions to orchardists of Weber county regarding lime and sulphur sprays were announced today by D. J. Hammon, county crops and pests inspector. He says:

"The season for applying lime and sulphur spray to your fruit trees for the control of all sucking insects is now at hand. Most of our growers in this county and other counties have been careless of neglect in applying this most important spray, consequently our quality of fruit is very low. Many growers at this time are debating with themselves as to what to use. The standard lime and sulphur solution we have used for many years and give good satisfaction for the control of the following insects and fungus diseases, namely: San Jose scale and other scale insects, Aphids, mites, twig borers, also the numerous fungus diseases such as mildews. A clipping from the Chicago Packer gives a very interesting statement:

"Peach growers should profit by last year's experience, when thousands of dollars worth of fruit was lost throughout the state by being infested with larvae of the peach moth, and now prepare to spray thoroughly and properly with control of this pest."

"Among others, even experienced peach growers had difficulty in controlling this pest last season with the old established control methods. The lime-sulphur 1-10, has given good control for the average grower during the average season. We also know that there is a chance of poor application and the past spraying season was followed by heavy rains. Some growers used the dry lime sulphur in solutions too weak for effective work."

"For the present season at least, let us stay with the standard control, for the peach moth and peach leaf-curler, by spraying thoroughly with lime-sulphur when the buds start to swell. If it rains immediately after the spraying, spray again."

SALT LAKE CITY, March 22.—Four men were injured, two possibly fatally, as the result of a head-on collision between a southbound street car and a northbound automobile truck laden with milk near Murray ten miles south of Salt Lake, today.

LIVELY RESPONSE FOR SCOUT MEET

That the three-day celebration planned for the Boy Scouts of seven western states, which is set for Ogdenville June 1, 2 and 3, will be a success is evidenced in the interest taken in the carnival by the replies received at local headquarters of the Boy Scouts from various scout centers in the west. Scout Executive G. A. Goates said today.

Invitations to more than 50 communities to enter the contest for Scout troops in the three-day meet were mailed out last week.

The committee with Orval Adams as chairman is busy mapping out a program for the celebration which promises to eclipse any program of this character ever staged in the west.

POLICE LOOK FOR IDAHO RUNAWAYS

Police officials at Pocatello, Idaho, have requested Ogdenville police officials to arrest and hold for them, if found, four boys that are said to have fled away from their homes at that city yesterday and who are supposed to have boarded a train bound for Ogdenville.

The boys were Clarence Keese, 15 years of age; Leo Johnson, 15 years of age; Harry Merz, 15 years of age; and Bert Dillworth, 14 years of age.

Cheesman is alleged to have driven the automobile that ran over and killed Dale Holt several weeks ago. The charge of failure to report the accident is based on Cheesman's alleged driving away from the scene of the accident without making known the fact that he drove the car. The accident occurred at Ninth South and Tenth East streets, where the Holt boy was coasting on his sled.
